The main objective of a course on the G-20 and Bharat (India) is to provide students with an in-depth understanding of the G-20's role in global economic governance and India's strategic involvement within this influential group. The course aims to explore the mechanisms and impact of the G-20 on international economic policies, highlighting India's contributions and diplomatic efforts. Students will analyze the historical evolution, key initiatives, and policy outcomes of the G-20, while also focusing on India's priorities in areas such as trade, climate change, and sustainable development. Additionally, the course seeks to develop students' skills in multilateral negotiations, policy analysis, and critical thinking. By examining case studies and participating in simulations, students will gain practical insights into the complexities of global diplomacy and economic decision-making, preparing them to engage effectively in discussions and careers related to international relations and economic policy.
